
REACHING RWANDA

Changing lives

This time last year many of you kindly helped us find books, toys and equipment to help the Reaching Rwanda project towards equipping their new school. Then, in the autumn, Sam Hunt came and shared with many of us deep insights into genocide and how easy it is for a society to reach that state (the video of the evening is still available on our Facebook page).

Fast forward a year and Reaching Rwanda, and its parent charity SURF, are now one of our eight chosen charities for the next two years. Time to start building a deeper and wider partnership!

On Sunday 7 Feb, Sam Hunt (Pastoral Head at Sandhurst School, leader of the Reaching Rwanda project and chair of SURF), will be being interviewed for the 9:30am service about all that is happening in Rwanda right now with the young people and their new school. You will be able to hear all she has to say either in church or on our livestream.

A small group of us is already exploring ideas as to how we, together with St George's, can build a more long term and strategic relationship – one where we can all learn and grow. Do get in touch if you are interested or have ideas!

25 years ago the world stood back and just watched as the genocide occurred. As a church we have the opportunity to work towards justice and healing by engaging with Reaching Rwanda and SURF.
